For the near future, Friday actually kind of sucks. I figured this out at the doughnut shop this morning.

Get well, goddammit.

Current Mood:

crappy

That would be a blues euphemism, except I think you're the wrong gender. Unless--no, no, no. Good grief.

Aren't you supposed to be passed out or something? Stop putting this stuff in my head!

This is a co-worker, right? Is this the sort of thing where, if you tell her that, you should have a camera handy for the look on her face? Or be wearing body armor?

Some people did a full day's work. Then drove from downtown D.C. to Baltimore in rush hour traffic. Without Mighty Platypus Superpower.
Okay, you can have your computer back now. g

I had a doctor tell me once to drink a beer with my percocet if it wasn't working well enough. facepalm
That was an American one too. My wife was offered beer while she was recovering from childbirth.

Um. I can't say just how remarkably BAD an idea that is. I mean, alcohol (sedative) plus oxycodone (sedative) is bad enough, but was he trying to give you liver failure (alcohol plus tylenol)?
